HON. C. W. CROSS BANQUETTED

LIBERALS HONOR THE ATTORNEY-GENERAL

A Enthusiastic Reception Accorded Premier Rutherford, Hon. C. W. Cross and Hon. W. H. Cushing—Splendid Liberal Gathering.

The banquet given last evening by the Young Men's Liberal club to Hon. C. W. Cross, was a most decided success. Scarcely a day's notice was given and yet a large number of Liberals were unable to find accommodation in the spacious dining hall of the Alberta hotel. About two hundred Liberals gathered to do honor to the new Attorney-General of whom the city of Edmonton and the Liberal party are justly proud. The chair was occupied by President Geo. McLeod of the club, and the vice-chair by Vice-President Dr. Strong.

"CANADA"
After the well-spiced tables had been relieved of their burden the chairman proposed the toast to His Majesty the King which was royally honored. President McLeod thanked those who were present, on behalf of the Young Men's Liberal club, to do honor to our new cabinet minister Hon. C. W. Cross. He then proposed the toast of Canada, coupling with it the names of Prof. Riddell, Mayor Mackenzie and Dr. Roy.

Prof. Riddell thanked the audience for heartily drinking the toast to Canada, his native land, our country. He was glad to be present to do honor to Mr. Cross and wished him long life to enjoy the honor of a position to which he had been called. He quoted some remarks of Dr. Fitch and said he had taken a view of Alberta as he passed by might have had a different idea of the country. This province was large enough to contain the German Empire and Switzerland and this was the land the Hon. Mr. Cross was called upon to govern. We were just feeling the throbbing of nationhood. This was a nation which makes men, strong men who would ever be true to Alberta and to Canada.

In conclusion he expressed the hope that Mr. Cross would be successful in his election, as he was a man who would do credit to his constituency and province.

Mayor Mackenzie was pleased to be present to join in the festivities in honor of the guests of the evening, Hon. C. W. Cross. He had been more or less associated with Mr. Cross for the past eight years and for that reason he was the better pleased to be present. Canada is now a nation as great as many of the nations of the world. He was proud to be a son of a Canadian soil. The last few days had forged two connecting links in the great Canadian federation. In conclusion he again expressed his pleasure at being present and thought the destinies of the province safe in the hands in which it had been placed.

Dr. Roy said it was unfair to send a doctor to respond to the health of Canada, but perhaps he, a medical man had been asked to look after Canada because twins were lately born to her. The baby Alberta was fortunate to be placed in the hands of such men as Lieutenant-Governor Bulger, Premier Rutherford, Hon. C. W. Cross, Hon. W. H. Cushing, and other members of the Government. With regard to the Attorney-General he was one of the men who helped to make the Liberal party in Edmonton. In conclusion he said, let us be Canadians and Canadians only.

Dr. Clendenen referred to a definition of Canada in a southern geography, which was hardly what was realized by its citizens. We have a country with the largest lakes and the most magnificent rivers of the world. We have soil as fertile as rich in minerals as can be found in the face of the earth. We should look proudly on our country. Northern Canada was not an ice-bound country, and 500 or 600 miles north of here were grown vegetables much superior to that produced here. The extent of production in Canada is almost unlimited. There are here a famous railway policy. We will soon have roads connecting us with Hudson's Bay. This country has produced the St. Wilfrid Laurier and is producing men like Rutherford and Cross.

"ALBERTA."
The toast of the Province of Alberta was then proposed consisting with the names of Messrs. John A. McDougall and Arthur Mowat. Mr. McDougall said he was pleased to be present. The toast was one we could drink with sincerity. We are proud of Alberta and expect great things from it. This province is a land of immense resources and possibilities and it is our privilege to develop them. The first settlements in the Northwest were along the Saskatchewan river and by following the past we get a glimpse of the future. Had the railway, the Edmonton as first expected our population would be four times what it is today, but the C.P.R. ran along the south, which narrowed the progress more. He related the incident of the attempt to move the land office by the Dominion Government, also the incident relating to the raising of $25,000 toward the bridge across the Saskatchewan. When the Liberal party gained power at Ottawa a brighter day dawned for Edmonton. Its aggressive immigration and railway policy has done much and is doing much for this country. It was impossible to estimate the benefits which would accrue from the C.N.R. and G.T.P. (With the election of Hon. Frank Oliver to the House of Commons, the Liberal party prospered. He paid a tribute to the efforts and perseverance of the Minister of the Interior on behalf of Edmonton and Alberta. He referred to the Liberal terms of the Autonomy Bill. The terms were much more liberal than would have been granted when first asked for, and we owed Mr. Oliver our thanks for the same. He congratulated the province upon its administration, paying a tribute to the Lieutenant-Governor and Premier. As to Hon. C. W. Cross, Edmonton had reason to be proud of its new Attorney-General. He also had the greatest confidence in Hon. W. H. Cushing, Finlay and De Veber. Mr. Mowat was pleased to be present to congratulate Mr. Cross upon being called to his high position. He also wished to congratulate the province upon having such an Attorney-General. We were happy in having men among us so well fitted to conduct the affairs of the province. In Premier Rutherford we had a man of honesty, integrity and ability. In the Attorney-General we have a man whose honesty, ability and kind nature has won for him the good will of the citizens of our city. Mr. Cross was a man whose personal strength would be felt in the government of Alberta. He should not be over-confident in this contest. Let us go in and elect Mr. Cross with an overwhelming majority.

"OUR GUEST"
President McLeod then proposed the toast of our guest Hon. C. W. Cross when was drunk with great enthusiasm. In reply Mr. Cross said he thanked the Young Liberals heartily for the honor they had done him in tendering him this magnificent banquet. He recognized the honor done him by the Lieutenant-Governor or calling him to the executive council. This was an honor not to him personally but to the city of Edmonton. Many kind things had been said about him tonight. He remembered when he and a few Young Liberals started a Young Liberal club in this city under not very favorable auspices. And in 1900 it was the Young Liberal club that gave Mr. Cross the handsome majority and in 1901 they increased the majority. That Young Liberal club was now the senior Liberal association and this new Young Liberal club would do much of the work for him in the coming campaign. He did not want to be defeated and he depended upon the young men to ensure his election.

The question might be asked what were the parties dividing on in this election. He referred to the early struggles of Liberalism in the province of Ontario. In the early history of the North West Territories there was a similar struggle. Hon. Frank Oliver, when first elected to the North West council had to fight almost single-handed against an autocratic rule. The Lieutenant-Governor was sent to the North West as a praefect autocratic ruler, and the rights of constitutional government were won for the use of the N.W.T. by Hon. Frank Oliver and Hon. Jas. Ross.

He referred to the proposal of the Mackenzie government to build a railway up the Saskatchewan valley to the town of Edmonton, and remarked that it was a co-incidence that it was another Liberal government under which the Grand Trunk Pacific was to be built, and that it had been Liberal governments from which Edmonton had received fair consideration, and he hoped this city would bear that fact in mind.

The election would be on after a while; he didn't want the privilege of being defeated. In conclusion he said he was personally grateful to the Premier for submitting his name as a member of the new cabinet. The Premier was too well known to need any commendation. He paid a compliment to the other members of the Government, and expressed the hope that the administration would be endorsed by the people. Messrs. McDougall and J. W. Stewart then favored the audience with songs.

"DOMINION GOVERNMENT"
The chairman then proposed the toast of the Dominion Government, coupled with the names of Peter Talbot, M.P., O. M. Biggar, J. K. McDonald, Mr. J. A. McKinnon ex-honorary member of Mr. Peter Talbot, M.P. He was only notified by telephone that afternoon and was driving his binder on his farm and, being unable to secure any person to take his place, could not leave his harvest, and he regretted very much his inability to be present to honor a man as held in such high esteem as Hon. C. W. Cross.

Mr. Biggar said not having yet been called to the Senate he was hardly a proper respondent to this toast. This province, he said, is not a creation of the Dominion Government; it arose prior to the Imperial statute as had created the other provinces. The Dominion Government exercises an administrative power over a very large area and the difficulties it has to meet as a result are very great indeed. Both races in Canada call themselves Canadians and this parliament is a parliament truly of Canada.

We were assembled to do honor to the new Attorney-General. He had known the Hon. C. W. Cross for some eleven years. He made a humorous reference to Mr. Cross' lacrosse playing in 1894 when he last saw the Dominion parliament spoke it talked for seven months, but he had no thought of emulating his example. Mr. J. K. McDonald expressed surprise at being called upon to reply to such a toast. He said, however, that the extra sessional assembly had against entering the Senate.

In his absence from this city he was pleased on his return to note the present and progress of this city. In no place in the Territories had such growth and public spirit been shown as in Edmonton, and in proof of the public spirit no one has had a more material part than the guest of the evening, Hon. C. W. Cross. He referred to the successful inauguration ceremonies.

The chairman read the regrets of Mr. C. W. McDonald who, through illness, was unable to be present. Dr. Nichols then sang a song followed by a selection by the orchestra.

"PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENT"
Dr. Strong, vice president of the Young Men's Liberal club then proposed the toast of the Provincial Government, coupled with the names of Hon. C. F. Rutherford, J. W. Boyle and E. Boudreau.

Mr. Rutherford was greeted with cheers on rising to speak. He expressed his great pleasure at being present to do honor to his colleague Hon. C. W. Cross. He wished to congratulate the citizens of Edmonton upon the splendid success of the inauguration ceremonies and the selection of very great responsibility. He esteemed it a great honor to be the first premier of Alberta, which position he would endeavor to fill with the best of his ability. His first duty was to form a government. He need hardly tell this audience it was a Liberal Government. He had reason to feel justly proud of the men who formed his government. He had endeavored to do justice to the whole province in his selection. In looking for a man of legal attainments to fill the position of Attorney-General he early selected Hon. C. W. Cross. The Attorney-General would have to devote his attention to the framing of the provincial statutes for Alberta. The responsibilities of the office would be great, but he was sure they would be met by the new Attorney-General. For the portfolio of Public Works he decided he must have a business man, as the duties of the office demanded such. There would be a probable expenditure of half a million dollars a year in that department, and he considered himself particularly fortunate when he found Mr. W. H. Cushing available for this position, and he was certain Mr. Cushing would not disappoint the people of Alberta.

THE COMING CONTEST

It is provided by the Autonomy bill that the first Provincial elections must be held within six months of the inauguration of the Province. Some time during the next six months therefore the electors of Alberta will be called upon to sustain the Government which the Lieutenant-Governor must have selected to administer the affairs of the Province or to replace that Government by one formed from the Conservative members of the first Provincial Parliament, for while in some few constituencies "independent" candidates are running, or are being run, the aggressive Conservative record which the majority of these gentlemen possess indicates only too plainly the real purpose and purpose of their candidature. The fight, as a Provincial fight will therefore be between the Liberals and Conservatives as such and the practical effect of the first election the return or defeat of the Government which the majority will carry on the affairs of the Province.

In the nature of things the contest cannot be upon the record of the Government which will have held office less than six months, the greater portion of which time will have been occupied in organizing the departments of the Administration and in giving attention to the many important matters which will require immediate attention. It is impossible that the Government should inaugurate to any effective degree within this brief and busy period any general policy. The time of the members will be occupied by details and while these may be administered in accordance with the policy which the Government intend to pursue, the opportunity will not be given before the elections to apply such policy in any broad manner or to observe the results of its operation.

The contest will thus be one of announced rather than applied policy, of proposal rather than performance. It is fortunate therefore that both parties have formulated and published the platforms on which they will appeal to the electorate. The adoption of party lines will not thus become as Mr. Haultain remarked, the adoption of names and party cries which have meaning in Federal but not in Provincial affairs. So far from this each party has enunciated certain principles on which it places reliance and the adoption of which to Provincial affairs it stands pledged. On some of these principles the two parties are agreed, on some they are in some radical opposition. It is all the more necessary therefore that the opposing platforms should be fully discussed and thoroughly understood, that the issues may not be confounded nor the opposing policies misunderstood.

C. P. R. BLOCKADE HEADED OFF

The action of the Railway Commission in declining to allow the protest of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company against the location of the Grand Trunk Pacific westward from Portage la Prairie will meet with the strong approval of western public opinion. It was not to be supposed that the corporation which marshalled every Parliamentary servant and every journalistic slave to fight the proposal to undertake the Grand Trunk Pacific would lose any opportunity of delaying or obstructing the actual construction of the road. Nor is it to be supposed that the present is the only or the last protest legal and journalistic, which the Canadian Pacific Railway will make against the building of the Grand Trunk Pacific. The opposition which has been offered the new company at every stage of organization will doubtless be continued with unabated energy during the construction of the line and it is a matter of satisfaction to the West that the first attempt on the part of this C. P. R. blockade the outlying of its rival has met with failure.

The present protest was lodged under a clause in the Grand Trunk Pacific Act which reads:

"Provided always that before the construction of any portion of the Prairie Section IN THE NORTH-WEST TERRITORIES is commenced the location thereof shall be subject to the approval of the Governor-in-Council, having regard to the principle that, except for the purpose of reaching proposed common points, or for other satisfactory reasons, such location shall be so made that such main line of railway shall be constructed at such distance, generally not less than thirty miles, from any other main line of railway running in the same direction, already constructed, or located by plans sanctioned by the Minister of Railways and Canals prior to the passing of this act, as the Governor-in-Council may deem advisable."

The evident purpose of the clause was to secure the maximum development possible by the building of the G.T.P. by obligating the Company to traverse territory not already served by other railways. But it was not the purpose of the Government, nor is it the desire of the people of the West that the Grand Trunk Pacific Company should be forced to construct a longer line than necessary but they should trespass on the province of the C.P.R. The people of the West if they are interested in the construction of the G. T. P. at all are interested in its construction by such route and in such manner as will make it an active and powerful competitor to the Canadian Pacific. That the line be constructed by the shortest available route which will enable it to fully serve the purposes of the country in sanctioning its construction is the best guarantee that the road will be an active and actual competitor. It is for this reason that the Canadian Pacific Railway Company oppose the location of the line and for this reason the people of the West will uphold the hands of the Railway Commission in disallowing the opposition.

The Land of Furs

(Staff correspondence. Washington Star.)

Edmonton, North West Territory, July 3, 1905.—In a fur trader's warehouse today we viewed and handled an assortment that would make the average woman's mouth water—a lot of fur skins, fresh from the Arctic. Oh, but they were beauties! black foxes, rich and soft, worth $300 to $400 each, undressed. Beaver, otter, mink and the dainty little skins that are used in trimming and enriching garments. Then there were bear-skins, wolverines and big, rough furs for robes. They must now be sent to New York or London and made up into garments to warm and adorn the rich, for these are not for the poor.

I am sending you a photograph of a $35,000 lot, which could be put in to an ordinary bed room. Even in the photo you can see the rich shades in the skins. As you see them in this photograph they come from the Indian camps, fresh from the trap-pers.

For many years Edmonton has been the chief depot for the fur traders, and this summer it is expected that $50,000 worth of skins will come into this town, in addition to the lots that go to Winnipeg and out of the Hudson's Bay. Edmonton serves the vast country northwest of Hudson's Bay and up toward the Yukon and Arctic. From here the traders depart in the early spring with their outfits of merchandise to be exchanged for furs with the Indians.

They drive over land for about 100 miles until they strike the Athabasca river. There they load up their flat boats and float down the Athabasca river, going almost due north until they emerge into Athabasca Lake.

Crossing the stormy body of water they get into the Great Slave river. From this stream they go upon a perilous voyage, rapids to shoot and portages to make. Then into and across the Great Slave lake, and so into the Mackenzie river for a journey of 1,600 miles toward the Arctic. Of course all along the route there are trading posts, and these are stocked with the merchandise for the next season. The men who go north in the spring have to remain all winter gathering furs from the outlying camps and then the next summer they start back to Edmonton.

On the return trip they have to tow up stream, sometimes with little steamers and over long stretches of river where the men toil in the traces against the swift current. Portages are frequent and it is a heart-breaking journey until they come out at Athabasca Landing, sometimes in July or September.

Two immense warehouses at Edmonton contain the merchandise, one operated by the Hudson's Bay Company and the other by Revillon Freres. Four stories high, these warehouses contain everything that can be used in the region north of the United States, from a piano to a can of fat bacon. We met M. Theodore Revillon, one of the young members of the house, Parisian born and bred, but very much acquainted with the north land, into which he makes occasional trips. Bredin & Cornwall, and other independent traders also told us of the life in the far north.

I cannot tell you what the poor Indian got for that $300. for skin, but I learned some of the prices. Mr. Lo has to pay for his grab. He is very fond of sugar and gets three pounds for a can of sugar. His bacon costs him 35 cents a pound, his flour averages about $12 a hundred pounds; tobacco, $1 a pound. He does not get liquor at any price.

One thing which impresses you is the order which is maintained in that far country. There is very little crime, and the traveler is safe from molestation, because the North West Mounted Police have established a record for running down criminals that has a salutary effect. When one of the brisk, stalwart members of this corps lays his hand on the shoulder of the "bad man" in that region, the bad man drops his gun and comes meekly along. A couple of Mounted Police will tackle a whole band of bad men, if necessary, for they know that the outlaws appreciate the fact that they would be hunted to the ends of the earth if one of those red-garbed chaps should have a hair of his head harmed.

Not long ago a fellow up in the region north of here was accused of murdering his chum. The two were camping near a party of Indians who saw them one evening. The next morning the camp was deserted and a pile of human bones was found in the ashes. The Indians notified the nearest detachment of Mounted Police and they went after the missing party, finally rounding him up. He and about fifteen of the Indians were taken down to Edmonton and the white man was tried. He got away the first time on a technicality, but they held him on another section of the charge and he has been convicted and sentenced to be hanged. It cost $35,000 to bring about that conviction, but that is the way order is maintained up north. Every Indian and would-be bad man knows about it now and is learning to dread the heavy hand of the North West Mounted Police.

Edmonton is a progressive town with electric lights and a prospective trolley line. It is very gratifying this far north, to find in a dainty little hotel brass beds and porcelain bath tubs. The Washingtonians let out a whoop like an Indian uprising when they discovered that hotel in the offing. The citizens have a charming little club and are very hospitable. We were entertained by the board of fur traders and citizens and came away delighted with the visit.

At present Edmonton is merely the terminus of a branch of the Canadian Pacific railway that runs north from Calgary. It will, however, soon become an important railway center.

The Canadian Northern railway's main line will reach Edmonton from Winnipeg within a short time, and it will be the most important point on the new Grand Trunk Pacific between Winnipeg and the Pacific Coast.

Both the Canadian Northern and the Grand Trunk will build branch lines from Edmonton, and one of the branches of the Canadian Pacific is now building north-west from Manitoba will reach Edmonton.

How great a city Edmonton will ultimately become depends altogether on the extent to which the country to the north and west may be developed. This is still a matter of some uncertainty.

Great things are expected of the Peace River Valley in this valley, at Vermilion in about latitude 50 north, the Hudson Bay Company has a fifty barrel flour mill, which is wholly supplied by local wheat. As long ago as 1876 the wheat raised at Dunvegan, 700 miles north of the headwaters of the Peace, was named the best in the world. What is not yet determined is the extent of the land suitable for wheat raising in this region.

The northern fish trade promises to develop into a very important one. Last winter a fishing company took an immense number of white fish out of Lesser Slave Lake, 200 miles north of Edmonton, and then shipped them to Chicago, so that people in the United States have been eating white fish that have been brought more than 2,000 miles to market.

Around Edmonton as indeed throughout Alberta, American settlers are numerous. The park-like country of this region, with its alternating groves, prairies, streams and rivers, is more attractive to many Americans than the treeless prairies farther east, which is, however, the great wheat country. Edmonton and Strathcona, the town on the south side of the river, now have a population of about 10,000. It is confidently expected that they will grow to 20,000 within the next five years. The city will be the centre of operations on the prairie section of the new Grand Trunk Pacific, which is to be built from Port Arthur to Edmonton within the next five years. It is said that at times there will be as many as 42,000 men employed on this great railway undertaking. There are now 60,000 people in the constituency of which Edmonton is the centre.

With reference to Hon. W. T. Findlay, he stated that the Minister of Agriculture was a prominent rancher and business man with legislative experience.

He paid a compliment to Hon. Dr. De Veber as an old and tried Liberal legislator whose counsel would be valuable to the Government.

He hoped in the course of two or three weeks to have the government officials in shape to do the business of the province.
An election could have to be held in six months, when it did seem he had no very grave fears as to the result. The Liberal party had a platform that would commend itself to the electors of the province. He concluded he thanked the people and the press for the kindly manner in which he had been received as Premier of the province. He again expressed his pleasure at being present to do honor to the Hon. C. W. Cross.

Mr. J. W. Boyle referred to the early history of Liberalism in Edmonton and referred in complimentary terms to Premier Rutherford and Hon. C. W. Cross. He was proud that the president of the first Young Liberal Club in Edmonton was now attorney general of the province of Alberta.

Mr. Boudreau said it was his first experience in responding to a toast at such a banquet. He was pleased to express on behalf of his district the great admiration they had for Premier Rutherford and Hon. C. W. Cross.
The toast to the Liberal party was then drunk and responded to by Danau Marshall and Dr. Forin. Dr. Forin said that prosperity, peace, and progress were written across the face of the Dominion. He paid a high compliment to Hon. C. W. Cross as a young man who had fought many battles for the Liberal party in Alberta.

Mr. F. S. Green proposed a toast to the new Minister of Public Works, Hon. W. H. Cushing, in a brief speech. Mr. Cushing thanked the audience for the kindly manner in which they had responded to the toast. This had been a day of surprise. He had been summoned to Edmonton by wire and notified also by wire of this banquet. He thanked the Premier for the honor done to him (Mr. Cushing) and also to Calgary. He had been a resident of the city of Calgary, in fact had helped to build the city and he was proud of Calgary. For the past fifteen years he has been actively interested in the municipal affairs of his city, and had tried to do his part faithfully. He said he was of the opinion that the Dominion Government did not do right in not making Calgary the provisional capital of Alberta, and he wished to state that his home was in Calgary, he had lived there for twenty-two years, and his every effort would be to locate the permanent capital in Calgary. The task of laying the foundations of Government in Alberta would require all the ability and best efforts of those to whom the Government had been entrusted. He believed Alberta to be one of the greatest and it would soon be the greatest of the provinces of the Dominion. He had good hopes for success in his election. His organization was in good hands and the Liberals were working with enthusiasm.

He closed by expressing his pleasure at being present at the gathering held in honor of the new Attorney General. He would endeavor to give his very best services to the office entrusted to him. Mr. L. Savard favored the audience with a song.
Mr. J. W. Boyle proposed a toast to the Young Men's Liberal Club which was responded to by three hearty cheers for the club, and the banquet ended with the singing of God Save the King.

GAME LAWS VIOLATED

Editor Bulletin:
Kindly allow me a little space to bring to the notice of those interested the way in which the game laws are being violated.

Doubtless it is a fact that the great majority of the settlers and residents of the Edmonton district are worthy citizens, and therefore have respect for, and abide by, the laws of the country. Unfortunately, there are others who it appears do not respect the law or the rights of their fellow citizens, and seem to need a lesson along these lines.

Shooting on Sunday is common as anyone living in the country surrounding Edmonton can vouch for. Last year when the chicken-shooting commenced, very few chickens could be got in some neighborhoods on account of their being either killed or frightened away by the lawbreakers before that time. The same thing is happening this year. Another point on which many of the farmers feel strongly is the way in which the class above referred to trespass and shoot over enclosed land without regard for and generally contrary to the wishes of the owners. It is high time that the law was enforced along these lines, and should the guilty ones have to pay the penalty, they need blame no one but themselves.

Thanking you for this valuable space,
I am yours truly,
JUSTICE.

—Saskatchewan Phoenix: Mr. Grant Smith, accompanied by Hauser, the contractor, who are building the cement piers for the new C. P. R. bridge, made a flying visit to Saskatoon last week. The south and north piers are already completed, the crib-work for two others is practically ready for the cement, a third has the cement laid to the water level and the company are impatiently waiting for the C.P.R. to supply the steel facing for the abutments. The main work will be delayed if these plates are not soon on hand. The work is being pushed rapidly, and is being facilitated by the low water level. Supt. Armstrong counts on completing their contract by the end of December.

—Red Deer Advocate: Southern Alberta is increasing its acreage enormously, for land is being grown, and this will be one of the great sources of wealth there, but we also claim that tall wheat will be grown upon millions of acres in central and northern Alberta, and away east of this for hundreds of miles. The work done has been simply experimenting, but with what striking results? It is to be borne in mind, all wheat, cattle raising, dairying, etc., have received, and justly so, the major portion of attention by our farmers. But here we have demonstrations of the incalculable possibilities of this wonderful land, and no truer word can be said than this, we do not know yet what cannot be grown here. The resources of the country are marvellous. Within a short distance of this town, Mr. Joe Smith, a contractor and heavy man, has in stock a field of tall wheat, about fifteen acres in extent, which he calmly calculates will, as to two acres of it make fifty bushels to the acre, and as to the whole field, will average forty bushels per acre. The quality is tip top, and straw abundant.

—A shocking accident occurred on Monday, the 26th, to a man named John O'Brien, by which he lost his life at Maple Creek. O'Brien, who had been working in Calgary for the last two or three years as a house-trainer, was a week or two ago despatched to Winnipeg in charge of some horses. There he seems to have become "drunk," and it was while "beating" his way back to Calgary the accident occurred. The freight on which O'Brien was riding reached Maple Creek about four o'clock on Monday afternoon, stopping for water, where he took advantage and stayed on for a few minutes. Deceased seems to have been waiting between the water tank and the "Y" and as the freight came speeding toward him at the rate of fifteen miles an hour, he made a dash at one of the cars, missing his hold and falling headlong beneath the wheels. When he was caught and withdrawn, and over, cutting him completely to pieces. J. Gilchrist who observed the accident at once signalled the freight to stop, the emergency brake was applied, but it was then too late. Deceased must have been killed instantaneously. O'Brien is believed to belong to Red Deer. He was apparently a man between 30 and 40.

Blockading Competition

Ottawa Free Press: The Canadian Pacific is offering strenuous resistance to the action of the Government in approving of the location of the Grand Trunk Pacific main line for a distance 275 miles west of Portage la Prairie. Besides making an official protest, it is carrying the matter before the Railway Board.

The dispute may be summed up thus: The Canadian Pacific contends that under Section 12 of the Act of Incorporation of the Grand Trunk Pacific, the main line of the latter ought not to be less than thirty miles away from the main line of the former. The Canadian Pacific in its protest also conveys the impression that this 30-mile limit is established by general legislation. Hence it says the Government has done wrong in allowing the Grand Trunk Pacific main line to run in places nearer than thirty miles to the Canadian Pacific main line west of Portage.

Section 12, after defining the various sections between Montreal and the Pacific, goes on to say of the Grand Trunk main line:

"Provided always that before the construction of any portion of the main line in the Northwest Territories is commenced, the location thereof shall be subject to the approval of the Governor-in-Council, having regard to the principle that, except for the purpose of reaching proposed common points or for other satisfactory reasons, such location shall, as far as practicable, be so made that such main line of railway shall be constructed at such distance, generally not less than thirty miles, from any other main line of railway running in the same direction, already constructed or located by plans sanctioned by the Minister of Railways and Canals prior to the passing of this Act, as the Governor-in-Council may deem reasonable."

It will be observed, in the first place, that this section applies only to the Grand Trunk Pacific main line, within the Northwest Territories and not to that portion of the main line within the Province of Manitoba. As a matter of fact about 155 miles of the present location are in Manitoba, and 119 or thereabouts in the Territories. When the G. T. P. bill was before Parliament, the Canadian Pacific sought to induce the Railway Committee of the House of Commons to make Section 12 applicable to the location within Manitoba as well as to the location within the Territories. But the committee refused to entertain the proposition. No division was taken as the feeling amongst members was seen to be overwhelmingly against the contention of the Canadian Pacific.

Secondly, it will be noted that the provision for a thirty mile limit in Section 12 is very carefully guarded, so much so that this Governor-in-Council is practically left with the widest discretion. When the G. T. P. project was first launched and for some time afterwards, the Canadian Pacific demanded that the line should not be allowed to enter Winnipeg, but should be built away to the north. It did not relish the idea of having a competitor. But the Government did not entertain that remarkable request. Winnipeg is the commercial centre of the West, the collecting and distributing point of all the export grain, the headquarters of all the banks, whose money helps to move the crop, and so on. It would have been simply absurd for the Government to order the Grand Trunk Pacific, which is being built as a competitive route to the Canadian Pacific and Canadian Northern, to be kept out of Winnipeg, and run north beyond the Saskatchewan and thence westerly to Edmonton. That would have effectively put it out of the race as a competitor of those lines, and in great part destroyed its usefulness so far as the West is concerned.

But, once the Government had resolved to let the G.T.P. main line enter Winnipeg, it became a physical impossibility for the road to extend itself by anything like a direct route to Edmonton without, in places, coming closer than thirty miles to the main line of the Canadian Pacific. If the reader will look at a map of the Northwest he will see this at a glance. There is nothing unreasonable or unfair, therefore, in the action of the Government in approving of the present location. What will occur to most persons is the unreasonableness of the Canadian Pacific authorities in asking the Government to disallow the G.T.P. from competing with it.

There is no provision in the Railway Act respecting the 30-mile limit nor in any other Act except Section 12 of the Act of Incorporation of the Grand Trunk Pacific above referred to. If one wished to rejoin upon the Canadian Pacific, it would not be difficult to show that it never hesitated to parallel existing lines when its interests could be served by doing so. At the present moment it is building a line from Sudbury to Toronto, which crosses the Grand Trunk line from North Bay at five different places, and runs close to it for miles at a stretch. In 1886 the Canadian Pacific obtained a bonus from the Conservative Government of that day for building the line from Montreal via London to Chatham, which runs alongside the Grand Trunk, so near to it that one can chuck the proverbial biscuit from one train to the other. The bonus was $3,200 a mile or $256,000 in all. The Grand Trunk Pacific main line west of Winnipeg is not bonused, but merely receives a Government guarantee of bonds not to exceed $13,000 per mile, which will not cost the country a penny. A minor point raised by the C. P. R. is that the located line of the G. T. P. will run through a region already well provided with railways. That is not the case. The eastern part of the territory to be traversed is served by a few branch lines, but the western, by far the greater portion, is in reality a virgin country which settlers have hitherto avoided because of the lack of railway facilities.

The crying want of the Northwest is railway competition. The crop is now far too large to be handled exclusively, to be carried to Fort William before the close of navigation, by the existing lines; and the Government would not be doing its duty if it listened to the Canadian Pacific or to any other company whose interest lies in warding off competition with its own monopoly.
